

Queensland Research Program

Available Grant Schemes as of June 2018

Grant scheme	Funding	About	Eligibility
Trainee	Up to $40,000	Funding for clinicians new to research.	Queensland Health employed emergency medicine trainees or senior medical officers supervised by an eligible FACEM (or FRACP PEM) providing patient care in Emergency Department.
Staff Specialist	Up to $100,000	Seed funding for innovative research that may have the potential for future funding by granting bodies.	Queensland Health employed FACEM (or FRACP PEM) providing patient care in Emergency Department as the principal Investigator.
Project	Up to $150,000 per year for three years (total of $450,000)	Whole or partial funding to run larger projects with the aim of generating data to seek further funding from alternative sources. Projects that include collaboration between multiple sites and/or disciplines, leveraged funding, in-kind support. Health economic analysis is desirable.	Queensland Health* employed FACEM (or FRACP PEM) providing patient care in Emergency Department as the principal Investigator.
Jumpstart	Up to $40,000	Seed funding for innovative research involving new collaborations and research teams. Project outcomes will have potential to lead to further funding from granting bodies.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Principal Investigator must be a Queensland Health* clinician who provides direct clinical care to patients in emergencies within: Emergency Departments or Queensland Ambulance Service or Retrieval Services Queensland. Must have at least one Queensland Health FACEM (or FRACP PEM) co-investigator, who is providing direct clinical care to patients in pre-hospital or Emergency Department setting.
Leading Edge	Up to $100,000	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Seed funding for innovative research that may have the potential for future funding by granting bodies Funding to leverage additional funding from other granting bodies Original research that demonstrates importance to emergency care. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Principal Investigator must be a Queensland Health* clinician engaged in providing direct clinical care to patients in emergencies within: Emergency Departments or Queensland Ambulance Service or Retrieval Services Queensland. Must have at least one Queensland Health* FACEM (or FRACP PEM) co-investigator providing direct clinical care to patients in pre-hospital or Emergency Department setting.

*This includes employees of Mater Misericordiae Health Services Brisbane Ltd, who work in the Mater Public Hospital.

